MiKK Cross-Border Family Mediation (CBFM®) Training for Ukrainian Mediators ONLINE via ZOOM

Monday, 9th-11th March 2026 (Module 1)
Monday, 16th -19th March 2026 (Module 2)

In Ukrainian/English
(with simultaneous translation)

Four years have passed now since the start of the full-scale invasion. Its prolonged nature continues to shape the lives of millions of Ukrainian families. Over this extended period of conflict, almost 8 million Ukrainians have left the country. Most of them are mothers and children. What began as an emergency evacuation has, for many, turned into long-term or even permanent separation. Many children have had little or no contact at all with their fathers in those 4 years – a long time in a child's life. Others have attempted to sustain co-parenting over several years despite separation across international borders and an active conflict zone.

What challenges do these parents face? Both from a practical, emotional and legal point of view? How can parents settle their disputes regarding contact, country of residence, the involvement of grandparents and the extended family in the upbringing of children? How can mediation assist parents in resolving these issues amicably and what are the special features of mediating these cases having regard to the particular context and the specific challenges posed by the war? ®

To find answers to these questions we would like to invite Ukrainian family mediators, residing in the Ukraine and those residing abroad, to participate in the Cross-border Family Mediation Training for Ukrainian Mediators. The 50-hour training course will also cover many other aspects of family mediation between parents separated by a border. It aims to qualify Ukrainian family mediators to mediate cross-border family disputes, including international child abduction, child access and custody cases. The course will cover relevant legal aspects of international family conflicts, including differences in national family law and the 1980 and 1996 Hague Conventions as well as the Voice of the Child in child abduction proceedings and mediation. Participants will get acquainted with the tools and methodologies of mediation in international family disputes with the aim of protecting the best interests of the child. Practical role plays form an integral part of the training.

This MiKK CBFM® Training has been specially adapted to equip mediators with the knowledge and skills to help resolve cross-border family disputes between Ukrainian parents, taking into account the specific challenges presented by wartime. Other topics featured in this training include: Parental Alienation and the Specifics of Trauma-informed Mediation.

Cooperation Partners & Funding:

This MiKK CBFM® Training is conducted in partnership with the Ukrainian Mediation Academy with co-funding of the European Union through the EU co-financed projects ACCORD 2 (MiKK) and Consent (UAM)¹ as well as funding and resources provided by the IRZ, German Ministry of Justice (BMJV) and trainer resources by the Mediation School.

- MiKK - International Mediation Center for Family Conflicts and Child Abduction is the leading international training provider in the field of international family mediation. MiKK has been conducting cross-border family mediation trainings and workshops internationally for close to 25 years now. The standardised Cross-border Family Mediation (CBFM®) Training concept was originally developed by MiKK in the EU co-funded Training in International Family Mediation (TIM) project in 2010. Over the past 16 years, MiKK has continuously adapted, improved and updated its CBFM® Training to keep abreast of any changes in the mediation and legal environments and to take into account feedback from international participants. So far, over 500 mediators from more than 50 countries have successfully completed the MiKK CBFM® Training which is run in different countries (Germany, France, Spain, Japan, Singapore) and in different languages: in English, French, German, Spanish and also in Ukrainian/English. For this Zoom Training for Ukrainian mediators, which was piloted in 2023, the MiKK CBFM® Training concept was modified in parts to allow the integration of specialist modules conducted by expert trainers from the Ukrainian Academy of Mediation (UAM), the Ukrainian Central Authority, the Mediation School and other Ukrainian expert speakers as to address the problems and particular challenges arising for families in times of war.
- The Ukrainian Academy of Mediation (UAM) was established in 2014 and is a leading non-governmental organisation in the field of mediation and ADR. Its mission is to promote the development and dissemination of mediation and other alternative dispute resolution (ADR) in Ukraine, as well as to increase the level of culture of peace and harmony in Ukrainian society. The UAM implements initiatives aimed at ensuring access to quality mediation services, promoting the harmonisation of Ukrainian legislation on ADR with the legislation of the European Union, facilitating the professional development of mediators, and conducting educational, training and research activities.

Working initially as a family mediator in the 1980's, she has been involved in developing new areas of practice, particularly in the context of Special Educational Needs and Disability Conciliation. She mediates in workplace disputes, has experience in community mediation and is trained to mediate in cross border family disputes and parental child abduction cases. Lisa Parkinson is a grandmother in family mediation, as well as in her own family. 45 years ago, she co-founded the first family mediation centre in the UK and a few years later, helped to set up the first national association of family mediators with a Code of Practice and training programme. Lisa drew from her experience in mental health social work and family therapy to develop a family systems approach to mediation with separated couples, parents and carers, rather than settlement-seeking mediation focused on adult negotiations without considering the child's right to be heard. Parental conflict harms children's well-being and development, especially where there is litigation and continuing dispute. Together with five family lawyers in London, Lisa launched a pilot project in 1986 to extend mediation from child-related issues to all issues, including finance and property.

The Family Mediators Association was founded in 1988 (Lisa was appointed director and now a Vice-President), providing cross-disciplinary training in co-mediation on all issues. As a founder member of the European Forum on Family Mediation and World Mediation Forum, Lisa has taken part in conferences and given mediation training in many countries including Argentina, Canada, Finland, France, Germany, Italy, Kazakhstan, Morocco, Portugal, Russia, South Africa, Spain, Switzerland, Turkey, Ukraine and the US. The 4th English edition of her book, Family Mediation, was published in 2020, with seven editions in other languages. Now retired from mediation practice, Lisa continues to give training mainly in child-inclusive mediation (ChiM – children in mediation), so that children and young people can be offered the opportunity to talk with a ChiM-qualified mediator, if they wish, and have their views and suggestions taken into account by their parents. Arrangements agreed within the family work better and last longer than a court order. In 2022 Lisa was delighted to win the National Mediation Significant Achievement Award.

Martina Erb-Klünemann is a German family court judge. She worked as a judge in general civil and criminal law cases at various courts before her appointment as a family judge in 1996. In this capacity she is responsible for international family conflicts pending at her court in Hamm/ North Rhine-Westphalia as a specialized court for a district covering nine million inhabitants. She has extensively published in the field of international family law and acts as an expert for the Hague Conference on Private international law and on the European level.

Martina is a network judge in the European Judicial Network in civil and commercial matters (EJN) and in the International Hague Network of Judges (IHNJ) as well as co-chair of the Association of International Family Judges (AIFJ). She runs Europe-wide training courses on cross-border family law. For years she is involved in the training in cooperation in civil matters run by the European Judicial Training Network (EJTN). Her main focus is on strengthening children's rights in cross-border proceedings.

Olha Zozulia is a lawyer. She is in charge of operations with the international treaties on child protection sphere in the Ministry of Justice of Ukraine.

Her professional skills and knowledge concern the theme of child protection and child abduction, including procedure of mediation in cross-border family disputes, custody issues and scope of the parental responsibility and other legal representatives of the child, applicable law, jurisdiction, procedure of recognition and enforcement.

Anne-Ruth Moltmann-Willisch, LL.M.(Mich.); former judge at civil courts of Berlin; judge mediator and coordinator of mediation by judges in civil court proceedings in Berlin (2009-2021); Trainer in mediation for judges in Berlin/Brandenburg and the German Judicial academy; member of the scientific advisory board and teaching qualification at the European University Viadrina Frankfurt/Oder; Freelance mediator and chairman of complaints committees (GEMA and DGPT).
